Pietro's Pasta alla Siciliana

A bold Southern Italian pasta with a rich anchovy-tomato sauce, sweet raisins, crunchy toasted breadcrumbs and pine nuts

Ingredients

- 500 g thick spaghetti
- 200 g concentrated tomato paste
- 10 anchovies in olive oil
- 40 g pine nuts
- 50 g raisins (uvetta)
- 100 g onion, finely chopped
- 50 g shallot (scalogno), finely chopped
- 1 garlic clove
- 100 g breadcrumbs
- 59 1/8 ml olive oil
- 1 pinch black pepper

Instructions

1. Heat lots of oil in a pan over medium heat. Add the 1 garlic clove clove and fry until golden, then remove and discard it.
2. Add the onion, finely chopped and shallot (scalogno), finely chopped and cook until golden and soft.
3. Add 10 anchovies and olive oil to the pan and stir until they completely dissolve into the oil and onions.
4. Stir in the raisins (uvetta) and let them cook for a few minutes so they plump up and absorb the flavours.
5. Add 200 g concentrated tomato paste and a splash of water. Stir well and simmer on low heat until the sauce comes together. Taste and adjust salt if needed (anchovies are already salty).
6. In a separate dry or lightly oiled pan, toast the breadcrumbs over medium heat, stirring frequently, until golden brown and crispy. Set aside.
7. In the same pan, toast the pine nuts with a little olive oil until golden and crunchy. Add a pinch of 1 pinch black pepper towards the end. The crunchier the better. Set aside.
8. Bring a large pot of salted water to a boil and cook the 500 g thick spaghetti until al dente according to the package instructions. Reserve a cup of pasta water before draining.
9. Toss the drained pasta with the sauce, adding a splash of pasta water if needed to loosen it. Plate and top generously with the toasted breadcrumbs and pine nuts. Serve immediately

Notes

Tips: Use thick spaghetti (spaghettoni) for the best result — they hold up to the bold sauce. The toasted breadcrumbs (pangrattato) are the Sicilian substitute for grated cheese, so don't skip them! Anchovies are salty, so taste before adding any extra salt.

Lucy's Veggie Spag Bol

Ingredients

- 1 small White Onion, diced
- 130 g Carrot, finely diced
- 100 g Celery, finely diced
- 0.33 cup Dry White Wine + the rest of the bottle for chef .
- 200 g Baby Mushrooms, roughly diced
- 300 g Dry Green Lentils - I use the dried green lentils and part cook them (about 15 min) so they still have a bit of bite and set aside to add with the other ingredients. Alternatively tinned but bolognese will have less texture.
- A good dollop of marmite in 500 mL boiling water
- 2 1/2 tins Crushed Tomatoes
- 0.33 cup Parsley, finely chopped
- 5 large Basil leaves, chopped
- 2 Bay Leaves
- 0.5 cup Walnuts, roughly chopped
- Cooked Pasta

Instructions

1. Add the Onion, Celery, and Carrot to a large nonstick pot with a splash of water. Sauté over Medium-High heat until translucent (4 5minutes).
2. Once all of the water has evaporated from the pan, deglaze with White Wine; sauté for another 5 minutes
3. When the pot is dry again, add the Mushrooms, (part cooked) Lentils, Crushed Tomatoes, Marmite mix, and a splash of water (you can add more water later if needed); stir well and simmer over high heat.
4. Once simmering, add the Bay Leaves, Parsley, and Basil. Stir into the Bolognese and let the whole mixture simmer for 20 minutes or until the Lentils are tender. Reduce the heat as you go and stir occasionally so nothing sticks to the bottom.
5. Note: If there is still too much liquid, drain off any excess and fast boil in a separate small pan to reduce and add back in
6. Stir in the chopped Walnuts, and add Salt and Black Pepper. Serve over cooked pasta.

Izzy's Mum's Burnt Aubergine Veggie Chilli

Ingredients

- 1 aubergine
- 1 tbsp olive oil or rapeseed oil
- 1 red onion diced
- 2 carrots finely diced
- 70 g puy lentils or green lentils, rinsed
- 30 g red lentils rinsed
- 400 g can kidney beans
- 3 tbsp dark soy sauce
- 400 g can chopped tomatoes
- 20 g dark chocolate finely chopped
- 0.25 tsp chilli powder
- 2 tsp dried oregano
- 2 tsp ground cumin
- 2 tsp sweet smoked paprika
- 1 tsp coriander
- 1 tsp cinnamon
- 800 mL vegetable stock
- 1/2 lime juiced

To serve

- brown rice
- tortilla chips

Instructions

1. If you have a gas hob, put the aubergine directly onto a lit ring to char completely, turning occasionally with kitchen tongs, until burnt all over. Alternatively, use a barbecue or heat the grill to its highest setting and cook, turning occasionally, until completely blackened (the grill won't give you the same smoky flavour). Set aside to cool on a plate, then peel off the charred skin and remove the stem. Roughly chop the flesh and set aside.
2. In a large pan, heat the oil, add the onion and carrots with a pinch of salt, and fry over a low-medium heat for 15-20 mins until the carrots have softened.
3. Add the aubergine, both types of lentils, the kidney beans with the liquid from the can, soy sauce, tomatoes, chocolate, chilli powder, oregano and the spices. Stir to combine, then pour in the stock. Bring to the boil, then turn down the heat to very low. Cover with a lid and cook for 1½ hrs, checking and stirring every 15-20 mins to prevent it from burning.
4. Remove the lid and let the mixture simmer over a low-medium heat, stirring occasionally, for about 15 mins until you get a thick sauce. Stir in the lime juice and taste for seasoning – add more salt if needed. Serve hot over rice with whichever accompaniments you want!

Butternut Squash Mac & Cheese

Ingredients

- 1 medium to large butternut squash (1.5 pounds or larger), halved
- 1 teaspoon extra virgin olive oil
- 2 tablespoons unsalted butter
- 1 teaspoon garlic powder
- 1 teaspoon onion powder
- 1 pound short-cut pasta (pipe regate, macaroni noodles, casarecce, cavatelli, fusilli)
- 5 cups water
- 1 teaspoon fine salt, to taste
- 4 ounces cream cheese, cubed
- 8 ounces shredded sharp cheddar cheese
- 0.5 cup finely grated
- Parmesan cheese, plus more for serving.

Instructions

1. To roast the squash: Preheat the oven to 220 degrees celsuis. Line a large, rimmed baking sheet with parchment paper for easy clean-up. Scoop out the squash seeds with a spoon. Rub the olive oil over the cut sides of butternut, then place them on the prepared pan, flat sides down.
2. Bake until the squash flesh is easily pierced through with a fork, about 40 to 60 minutes. Once it's cool enough to handle, peel off the skin and discard it. Use a potato masher to mash up the squash—don't worry about getting it perfectly smooth. You'll need about 2 cups mashed squash for this recipe (you'll likely have plenty extra, which you can freeze for future mac and cheese). Set aside, refrigerate and/or freeze the squash until ready to use.
3. To prepare the mac and cheese: Melt the butter in a large pot or Dutch oven over medium heat. Add the garlic and onion powder and cook for 2 to 4 minutes, stirring often, until the butter is fragrant and you see little brown flecks forming in the pan. Add the dry pasta and gently toss to coat it in butter.
4. Pour in the water and salt. Add 2 cups of the mashed butternut squash. Cover the pot and bring it to a boil over high heat. Once boiling, remove the lid and set the timer for 8 minutes.
5. Cook, stirring occasionally, until the timer goes off. Do not drain the MISSING TEXT

11. Reduce the flame to medium and fry until the florets turn golden and crisp. Keep stirring in between for even frying. Remove them from the pan shaking gently to get rid of the excess oil.

5. Divide and Preshape (5:10 p.m.) Lightly flour your work surface and scrape out your dough. Using your bench knife, divide the dough in half. Lightly shape each half into a round shape. Let the dough rest for 25 minutes, uncovered.

When the oven is preheated, remove your dough from the fridge, score it, and transfer to the preheated combo cooker. Place the cooker in the oven, cover with the lid, and bake for 20 minutes. After this time, remove the lid (you can keep it in the oven or remove it) and continue to bake for 30 minutes longer. When done, the internal temperature should be around 208°F (97°C). Let the loaves cool for 1 to 2 hours on a wire rack before slicing.

Katie's Brownies

Ingredients

- 3 large eggs
- 275g caster sugar
- 175g salted butter
- 200g 54-60% dark chocolate chopped into small pieces
- 100g 70% dark chocolate chopped into coffee bean sized pieces.
- 175g plain flour

Instructions

1. Pre heat oven to 180C. Line a 20 by 34cm baking tray with baking paper.
2. Break the eggs into a mixing bowl, add the sugar and give a few whisks with a hand wisk or electric beater, then set aside. This helps the sugar to dissolve.
3. Put the butter in a pan and leave over a medium heat until it has completely melted and small bubbles are just beginning to rise to the surface. Be careful not to let it boil. Turn off the heat, then add all the 54-60% dark chocolate and a third of the 70% chocolate. Stir until melted.
4. Whisk the eggs a little more until they start to get paler, then whisk in the chocolate mix to make a smooth paste. Sift in the flour and stir gently with a spatula until combined. Finally stir in the remaining pieces of chocolate.
5. Pour the mis into the lined tray and level with a spatula or palette knife. Bake for 18-20 min until the edges are starting to rise and crack slightly and the centre is soft to the touch but not liquid. Remove from oven and leave to cool in the tray.
6. Cut into 8 large squares and serve.

Dom and Dee's Cardamom Buns

Ingredients

- 35 cardamom pods
- 350ml full-fat milk
- 200g butter (cubed)
- 500g strong white bread flour
- 225g caster sugar
- 7g sachet dried yeast
- 0.5 tsp ground cinnamon
- Vegetable oil
- 1 large egg
- 0.5 tsp salt

Instructions

1. Crack open 10 of the cardamom pods with a pestle and mortar, and tip into a saucepan. Add the milk and warm until steaming but not boiling. Add 50g butter (leave the remaining butter at room temperature to soften) and set aside to cool until lukewarm, swirling the pan from time to time to encourage the butter to melt.
2. Put the flour, 75g of the sugar, the yeast, cinnamon and 1/2 tsp salt into a large bowl. Mix until well combined. When the milk has cooled, strain it through a sieve into the flour, discarding the cardamom. Using a wooden spoon mix to form a soft dough. Tip onto a work surface and knead for 10 mins, until the dough is smooth and stretchy. Clean the bowl, lightly grease with oil, then return the dough to the bowl and turn it over until well coated in oil. Cover the bowl with a tea towel or cling film and leave to rise for 2 hrs or until doubled in size.
3. Crack the remaining cardamom pods using a pestle and mortar. Prise them open and tip the seeds back into the mortar, discarding the pods. Crush the seeds to a powder, then combine with 150g sugar. In a bowl, mix the remaining butter with all but 2 tbsp of the cardamom sugar.
4. Line two baking trays with parchment. Punch the dough down to knock out the air, then roll to a rectangle roughly 35 x 45cm, with the longer edge facing you. Spread the cardamom butter over the surface, right to the edges. Fold the top third down to the middle and the bottom third up, like an envelope, so you have three layers of dough. Score, then cut into 12 equal strips, measuring about 3.5 x 11cm each. Cut each strip down the centre, leaving it attached at the top. Twist each strip away from the centre two or three times, then tie the dough in a knot and tuck the ends underneath the bun.
5. Cover both trays with a sheet of lightly oiled cling film and leave somewhere warm to rise for 30 mins 1 hr, or until almost doubled in size. Heat oven to 170C fan.
6. Uncover the buns and brush all over with the beaten egg. Bake for 20-25 mins until golden brown.
7. Tip the remaining cardamom sugar into a pan and add 50ml water. Bring to a boil, then remove from the heat and set aside to cool, swirling to dissolve the sugar. Brush the syrup over the buns two or three times as they cool, leave them to soak for 20 mins before eating.

Notes

You can prove the dough overnight in the fridge instead These will keep for a few days out once made but also freeze and reheat very well. The cardamom can be swicthed out for a variety of other spices.

Tempest's family pudding (Jam Roly Poly)

Ingredients

- 50g salted butter (cold and cut into chunks, plus extra for greasing)
- 250g self-raising flour (plus extra for rolling)
- 1 vanilla pod (seeds scraped out)
- 50g shredded suet
- 150ml milk
- 100g/4oz raspberry or plum jam, or a mixture
- Alpro vanilla yogurt

Instructions

1. Put a deep roasting tin onto the bottom shelf of the oven, and make sure that there's another shelf directly above it. Pull the roasting tin out on its shelf, fill two-thirds with boiling water from the kettle, then carefully slide it back in. Heat oven to 180C/160C fan/gas 4. Tear off a large sheet of foil and greaseproof paper (about 30 x 40cm). Sit the greaseproof on top of the foil and butter it.
2. Tip butter, flour and vanilla seeds into a food processor; pulse until the butter has disappeared. Tip into a mixing bowl. Stir through the suet, pour in the milk and work together with a cutlery knife until you get a sticky dough. You may need a drop more milk, depending on your flour.
3. Tip the dough out onto a floured surface, quickly pat together to smooth, then roll out to a square roughly 25 x 25cm. Spread the jam all over, leaving a gap along one edge, then roll up from the opposite edge. Pinch the jam free edge into the dough where it meets, and pinch the ends roughly, too. Lift onto the greased paper, join-side down, loosely bring up the paper and foil around it, then scrunch together along the edges and ends to seal. The roly-poly will puff quite a bit during cooking so don't wrap it tightly. Lift the parcel directly onto the rack above the tin and cook for 1 hr.
4. Let the pudding sit for 5 mins before unwrapping, then carefully open the foil and paper, and thickly slice to serve.
